

CHILD-PARENT RELATIONSHIP THERAPY

INFORMATION BOOKLET

A 10-week online course to strengthen connection, communication, and build skills and confidence.

Delivered by Mara Play Therapy & Play Therapy North East

ABOUT CHILD-PARENT RELATIONSHIP THERAPY (CPRT)

Is your child struggling with big feelings, behaviour, or connection?

You're not alone — and you don't have to figure it out by yourself.

This 10-week therapist-led online group is designed for parents and carers who want to improve their relationship with their child using evidence-based strategies that really work.

What You'll Gain:

A stronger bond and better communication with your child.

Practical skills in using play therapy techniques at home.

A deeper understanding of your child's emotional needs.

Ways to effectively discipline and limit inappropriate behaviour.

A safe space to reflect, share, and grow —with two qualified therapists guiding you.

Research shows that motivated parents can be as effective as a professional in helping their child

What's Included:

- 10 weekly 90-minute live sessions (via Zoom).
- An individual session at beginning and end of course.
- Small, supportive group (6–8 families).
- Digital handouts, weekly tools, and take-home resources.
- Optional email support between sessions.
- Delivered by two experienced child & family therapists.
- An opportunity for on-going parent support.

Who is this for?

Parents or carers who:

- Want to improve connection and reduce conflict.
- Have children experiencing emotional or behavioural challenges.

Frequently Asked Questions:

What is this group about?

This 10-week online group is a structured, evidence-based intervention designed to strengthen the child-parent relationship, improve emotional connection, and support healthy communication. It's ideal for parents/carers of children aged 3-10 years old, although can be adapted for older/younger children.

Who is this for?

Parents or carers who:

Want to improve connection and reduce conflict

Have children experiencing emotional or behavioural challenges

Are open to reflective parenting and trying new strategies

You do not need a diagnosis or referral.

Do I attend with my child?

No — this is a parent-only group. The focus is on helping you understand and respond to your child's needs more effectively. You'll be applying strategies at home between sessions and recording some of your play sessions with your child to share with the group.

Will this be confidential?

Yes. All participants agree to a group confidentiality agreement. Nothing is recorded during the on-line session.

What if I miss a session?

We understand life happens. If you miss a session you'll receive a summary and handouts for that week.

Optional check-in support may be available depending on circumstances.

What if I have more than one child?

Your 1:1 sessions will focus on one child, however you might decide to practice with one child for one session and another child for the next session, or you may focus on one child for all of the 10 sessions, then doing this with your other child/children after completion of the 10 sessions.

How is the group delivered?

Online via Zoom (link provided each week)

90-minute sessions, same time each week

Confidential, supportive small group (6-8 families max)

Co-facilitated by two experienced, qualified therapists

Is this a parenting course?

It's more than that. This is a therapeutic, relational intervention. You'll learn evidence-based strategies while gaining insight into your child's emotional world and your own responses. It's gentle, reflective, and deeply supportive.
